4-H Youth Development Extension Agent I or II
University of Florida/IFAS Extension at St. Lucie County
Ft. Pierce, FL (South Extension District)

Application Deadline: 15 September 2017

Position Summary

University of Florida/IFAS Extension and St. Lucie County seek to fill a 12-month, permanent status-accruing 4-H Youth Development Extension Agent position. The agent will provide leadership for development, implementation and evaluation of a comprehensive county 4-H Youth Development program in cooperation with local citizens and county/state extension colleagues. County extension programs are based on local input from active advisory groups maintained by the agent.

Duties and Responsibilities

The agent will:

- Provide leadership for development, implementation and evaluation of a comprehensive county 4-H Youth Development program in cooperation with local citizens and county/state Extension colleagues.
- Develop, sustain, and monitor the effectiveness of a volunteer system to staff the 4-H program including recruitment, volunteer staff development, and evaluation/recognition.
- Ensure compliance with Florida 4-H youth protection policies, including screening and training 4-H volunteers.
- Maintain an effective county 4-H Association and a 4-H Expansion and Review Committee.
- Work with local livestock owners, to provide forage and hay production strategies, new and improved pasture management, livestock management, animal husbandry and agricultural production techniques.
- Manage and oversee St. Lucie County's 15+-acre 4-H Farm; including recruitment, scheduling and supervision of volunteers plus care of facility, farm animals and teaching gardens.
- Target programs to achieve program balance reflective of the county's population diversity and to address the unique educational needs of county residents.
- Provide leadership for securing and managing private financial resources to support 4-H programming and ensure compliance with UF/IFAS Extension financial policies.

- Provide leadership for the management of all program components including program policies, enrollments and records, risk management, communications, and educational materials.
- Provide supervision of 4-H program specialists and any additional program support staff, including interns.
- Establish and maintain an effective system for accountability.
- Assume other assignments and responsibilities in support of the total Extension program as assigned by the County Extension Director and District Extension Director.
- Follow all University and county policies and procedures.
- Proactively work with supervisor to manage work-life balance.

The successful candidate must demonstrate the ability to:

- Design, implement, and evaluate community-based educational programs based on needs assessment with input from county 4-H Association and community members.
- Manage volunteer systems and apply experiential education and community development methods.
- Work with community agencies and groups in collaborations and partnerships.
- Work with and enhance strong local advisory committees.
- Develop and maintain good media relations.
- Work cooperatively with youth and adults as a leader and team member.
- Work independently with minimal supervision.
- Maintain work-life balance in consultation with County Extension Director

Qualifications

A bachelor's degree is required; a master's degree is preferred. A candidate hired with a bachelor's degree only must make at least 50% progress towards obtaining a master's degree within 6 years of appointment. The degree must be from an accredited college or university in youth development, extension education, agricultural education, or a related field. A background in teaching science, STEM and/or environmental topics is preferred. Experience recruiting, training, and supervising volunteers is preferred.

The candidate must possess good verbal and written communication skills; have qualities of resourcefulness, creativity, enthusiasm and innovativeness; and have good organizational development and management skills. Knowledge and experience with computer technology are essential. Previous experience with 4-H as a member, leader, or agent and experience with 4-H clubs, camps, school enrichment, and afterschool programs is desirable. The agent must be free to travel frequently within St. Lucie County and occasionally outside of the county.

Extension Agents are UF/IFAS faculty members; implicit in this position is the need to sometimes work outside of normal business hours. Therefore, the candidate must be flexible with their time and must be willing to work irregular hours, including evenings and weekends. Occasional overnights with volunteers and youth and professional development travel is required.

The successful candidate must be able to hold a Florida Driver's license and must be willing to travel using personal transportation. Employment is contingent upon the results of a national background screening. St. Lucie County will require drug testing and additional requirements for employment.
